Bad Dope, Ignorance Termed Dangers In Drug Abuse

by Adoree Shortle

Echo staff writer

A crowd of about 350 interested parents and youngsters filled the American Legion Hall in Bay St. Louis Friday night to hear Dr. John Russell discuss the current drug abuse situation on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Long Beach Assistant Police Chief James Hanley opened the program with a series of slides identifying the various "street drugs" being abused by today's user.

Hanley said an awareness by parents of the existence of drug abuse and a knowledge of methods most used by youth "to turn on" is the most important step toward the control of drug abuse.

"We're not interested in fighting a statistical war, in seeing how many people we can arrest," Hanley told the audience. "We're interested in helping to control the excessive increase of drug abuse, and if possible, to stop it."

Juveniles arrested on narcotics charges react in different ways, he explained. To some getting busted, or arrested on narcotics charges, is a status symbol. They brag about it. To others, it is a traumatic experience which they can't handle, and which often increases the problem.

"Through programs such as this one, Hanley stated, parents can become better informed about the things their children are using so when a parent encounters marijuana, tabs, pills, or powders at home, they will recognize the problem and know to do something about it.

"Better to stop the problem at home before the police come knocking at the door, or call to tell you that your child has been arrested," Hanley admonished the group.

Before Dr. Russell spoke, Bay Police Chief William Carbonette, who was moderating the program, introduced a young girl sitting at the head table.

Blonde and attractive, she appeared to be about 20 years old. She was a worker at Dr. Russell's Drug Abuse Center in Gulfport, Carbonette said in introducing Pam McConnell, and would speak briefly before the director.

"I was a heroin addict for five years," she said quietly. "And I started at 14 smoking marijuana."

From her appearance and manner, it was hard to believe that she had even smoked cigarettes and the entire audience sat in stunned silence while

Pam described how she got into the drug habit and what she went through until a year ago, when through contact with Dr. Russell, she quit and started working at the Center in Gulfport.

"My little brother is 14 now and I'm concerned about him, and I'm concerned about your children. I don't want to see them go through what I did," she concluded. Addressing herself to the young people in the audience, many of whom were pre-adolescents, she said she would be glad to talk to anyone and answer any questions they may have about drug use.

A dynamic and forceful speaker, John Russell left the microphone and moved into the audience, often speaking directly to individuals as he laid it on the line about the current drug abuse situation on the Coast.

"Eight out of ten of YOUR children are turning on!" he said as an opener and went on to relate some statistics to authenticate his statements.

Pond Treatment Called Successful

A possible solution to algae problems in the Bay St. Louis sewerage lagoon has been found according to a spokesman from Sanitrol Systems of Jackson, a firm which recently completed seven months of work on the pond.

Charles McNamee of Sanitrol told the city council Monday night that the process he had used on the pond was working and that he was prepared to keep the lagoon under control without "breaking the pond into cells."

On August 21, 1972, the council authorized Sanitrol to perform the work with the stipulation that the firm would be paid only if the process was successful.

The council agreed to meet at a later date with McNamee to study Sanitrol's documentation of the work. "You are on the threshold of having one of the finest one-cell lagoons," McNamee told the council.

A request by the Bay St. Louis-Waveland-Altrusa Club that the city allocate $15,000 of its revenue sharing money for additions to the Hancock County Youth Detention Center was rejected by the council because the money has been earmarked for the city budget, street paving, parks and playgrounds and other city services.

"The council has had the Center under consideration for some time now," Mayor Warren Carver told the group, "but we need so many other things... this money can only be stretched so far."

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the Bay St. Louis and Waveland city officials were asked to finance the additions by John Chevis, Youth Court counselor. Supervisors voted Monday to give two and one-half percent of their revenue sharing money to the Center but the matter is still under consideration by the city of Waveland.

In other business, the council appointed Mrs. Rosemary Ramelli to the Planning and Zoning Commission to replace E.J. Marengo who recently resigned his position.

THE XAVIER UNIVERSITY Concert Choir will be only one of several groups performing at 3 p.m., April 1 in St. Rose de Lima School in a program benefiting the St. Rose de Lima School. Xavier's select vocal group, the Concert Choir has received critical acclaim in annual tours throughout the South and along the Eastern coast. New York critics praised the group in a Town Hall performance several seasons ago. The choir is directed by Dr. Julius R. Tipton.

In addition to the Xavier Concert Choir, the program will include jazz and popular music; solo instrumentals and spirituals, all performed by members of the school's music department. The Choir has received critical acclaim in annual tours throughout the South and along the Eastern coast. The group is under the direction of Dr. Julius Tipton.

Tickets for the 3 p.m. performance at St. Rose de Lima School may be purchased at St. Rose School on Necaise Ave. or by calling 467-9478.

NEW FOOD STORE... Looking over the contract between National Food Stores and "Our Shopping Center, Inc." are, from left Joseph Gex, vice-president of Our Shopping Center, Inc.; Rogers N. Brown, vice-president of National Food Stores and Division Manager for the New Orleans regional office; and Delmer Wilcox, president of Our Shopping Center, Inc. The contract was signed Saturday morning for National to be located in the new shopping center on Highway 90 in Waveland. The center, located on 18 acres of land, will be completed and fully occupied by Feb. 1, 1974, according to Wilcox. "We are very proud of this center because all owners are local people and it will be the largest one on Highway 90 from Gulfport to New Orleans," Wilcox commented.

Hospital Accepts Bids For Cardiac Monitoring System

Hancock General Hospital board of trustees opened bids Tuesday night for a three-bed monitoring system for cardiac patients. Bids were received from two companies for the system as advertised by the board: Vital Functions, Inc. of Metairie, La. entered a bid of $10,325 on a system, and General Electric Corp.'s bid was $11,253. On the recommendation of Doctors Sidney Chevis and John Levens, who attended the meeting, the bids were taken under advisement until the doctors could review the two systems.

In another matter, a motion was passed to remit contractor's preliminary fee of $1,800 for plans and specifications on installation of a new roof for the hospital. Specifications submitted listed the estimated cost of a new roof as $80,000.

Mrs. Mona Santiago, acting administrator, reported that the new system for emergency room physician coverage and fee collection was working out satisfactorily.

Additional applications for the position of permanent hospital administrator were reviewed and a decision reached to conduct personal interviews with three applicants in early April. Members of the board have already had personal interviews with four of the more promising applicants, Board President Rev. Charles Johnson stated.

A lengthy discussion followed among board members and the two attending physicians on various methods available for increasing the hospital's medical staff. Recent and anticipated future resignations have reduced the medical staff to a point which is creating a hardship on the remaining doctors.

A more detailed explanation of the situation and a statement of intent by hospital authorities can be found on Page 2, Sec. A of this issue.

Notice To The Public

The Board of Trustees of the Hancock General Hospital takes this opportunity to inform the general public of certain problems that exist in connection with the operation of the hospital's emergency room.

The number of patients who are using the emergency room facilities has grown so great that it is going to be practically impossible to continue this service to the same extent as it has been furnished in the past.

Until recently our County has been fortunate enough to have a fair supply of doctors. Through the rotation of physicians, we were able to always have one on duty each night to cover the emergency duty. When it got down to the point that we had only five doctors, proper steps were taken to relieve the doctors somewhat by hiring resident doctors to cover the emergency room on week ends.

On the 1st of February, 1973, another doctor on our staff left us. Presently, we have four full-time doctors on the staff who are able to devote their services to emergency room duty. On the 1st of June of this year, we are going to lose another medical man. Consequently, we will be down to only three full-time doctors.

It will, of course, be impossible for them to keep up with their practice and adequately take care of the strenuous demands of the emergency room. Even if we had no emergency room, it would be most difficult for three physicians to take care of all of the sick people in a County with a population of approximately 17,000 people.

Certainly, there are a number of people in our County and its communities who patronize other doctors outside of our County. Many in the Coastal section go to doctors in New Orleans, Pass Christian and Gulfport; and some in the outlying areas go to Piquette, Slidell and Poplarville, as well as Gulfport. However, many of these same people use Hancock General for emergency treatment for the simple reason that it often is the closest available place.

There are numerous cases where patients who have no local doctor or no doctor at all will enter the emergency room and doctors will have to leave patients waiting in their offices while they come to the hospital to treat emergency cases. Some of the cases are not real emergencies. If the limited number of doctors are having a difficult time taking care of their office patients and the in-patients they have in the hospital, then it would be most unfair to expect them to render full-time emergency room coverage.

When we are down to three doctors, then each would have duty every third night. This means he would work during the day with office patients and hospital in-patients, and then be on duty all night in the emergency room, and then back to his office the next day. It would be physically and humanly impossible for any doctor to keep up this pace for any length of time; and we don't believe that the public could expect this of any man, especially in view of the fact that most of us work 40 hours per week, or less, and have holidays and week ends off.

We are not giving these various facts for the purpose of pointing out the gallantry or the burdens of the doctors or those few of them who choose to remain among us. None of us would condemn those who have left or any of those who might soon leave. Surely, their reasons are valid or justifiable. Some, no doubt, are going to greener pastures. Others are going into specialized fields. Whatever may be their reasons, that is their personal privilege and none of us should condemn a man for trying to better himself.

The fact remains that we do have a very grave problem. We certainly want to continue furnishing emergency room treatment for actual or real emergencies. However, in order to continue this service, we are going to need your co-operation, understanding and help. We have checked on several other hospitals and there is not a hospital of comparable size in this section of the Country that is handling as many emergency cases.

In spite of occasional adverse criticism, we believe that we are running a good, well-equipped hospital. We have some outside doctors who will attest to this fact, as well as local staff. On the other hand, we cannot run a hospital or its emergency room without an adequate supply of doctors.

The shortage of general practitioners is, of course, not just a unique situation that prevails only in this area. There is a severe shortage of them throughout the entire country. It is an impossible task for us to combat or solve that problem. We cannot create doctors and it is most difficult to attract them into this area when there are many other places where they can go where the rewards are greater and there is a lot less stress and strain. None of us will deny that economic factors influence the lives of all of us to a great extent.

If the doctor shortage does not improve in the immediate future and we have to curtail, limit or perhaps eventually eliminate emergency room services, then we ask for your understanding. We have tried a number of methods to procure additional doctors and have not been successful. Perhaps you can help us and the community by encouraging practicing physicians in other areas and prospective doctors who are now attending medical school to locate in our area.

You may also help by going to the local doctor's office during his office hours rather than going to the emergency room during the day and asking hospital personnel to call a doctor out of his office, thereby causing him to leave a number of patients waiting, who also need his services.

We recognize the fact that there are many real emergencies, such as the tragic accident victims on our highways. We know that many of those who are critically injured don't have time to be transported to other hospitals if they are injured in our County and are closer to our hospital than any others. Those persons should be treated and we want to be in a position to do so.

There are those who have severe heart attacks and other things that require emergency treatment. Those people should not have to suffer and do without the services of our emergency room because of its being abused and overburdened by many cases that are not true emergencies, such as cases of headache or slight fever or lingering malaises that could have and should have been treated during the day at the doctor's office.

There are many cases that are not life and death cases where the patient lives much closer to other hospitals in adjacent Counties which that patient normally patronizes. In emergencies, we ask that you continue to use the services of that same hospital, especially where you have been satisfied with that institution and your regular doctor lives in the general vicinity of that hospital.

Please understand our position and bear with us. We most assuredly want the general public of Hancock County to use our hospital. We cannot maintain a good hospital or any kind of a hospital without your support and patronage. On the other hand, we ask that you help us curtail the use of the emergency room and help us limit its use to true emergencies so that it may remain open to help save lives rather than be closed because it is misused as an out-patient clinic. We earnestly solicit your patience, understanding and help and ask that you join hands with us in formulating and promoting a workable plan to keep our emergency room open and to help insure the successful future of our hospital by giving credit for the good that it has done throughout its history. We trust that you, the public, will not let us down in this critical period.

Respectfully submitted,

Rising Food Prices - What's At Steak?

Grocery shopping today is a frightening experience. Prices go up before your very eyes - one lady reports that an item jumped from 79 cents to 90 cents to $1.05 before she could get out of the store.

Beside the obvious effect this has on our pocket-books, rising food prices are sure to be felt in every stratum of our society. Every family is of course touched by this problem but have you ever considered the seriousness of the situation that faces us if we are forced to continue to pay exorbitant prices to survive? Here is a look at some of the things which may be appearing in your local newspaper:

A local bank has instituted a "Christmas Dinner Plan" for savings-minded customers. For $2 each week for 52 weeks, one can tuck away enough to buy a complete Christmas dinner for three consisting of a four-pound chicken, dressing, one vegetable, three dinner rolls and one pumpkin pie. However, the bank also offers "Deluxe Christmas Dinner Plans" which provide optional wine and two vegetables.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department announced that a stolen food ring has been broken up and three men arrested. Articles uncovered included three hams, ten steaks, six chickens and 20 pounds of hamburger meat. Law enforcement officials estimated the value of the stolen property at $3,000. The three suspects have been bound over to the grand jury on grand larceny charges.

The public is invited to attend a Food Abuse Panel sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Police Department. Featured speakers will be Maurice Vlands, Ph.D., renowned nutritionist and director of the "The Check-Out Counter", a half-way house for young food abusers; Dr. Fletcher Allments, author of "Food: A Psychological Dependency"; and Foster Forager, former undercover agent for the Food and Drug Administration.

A reformed food addict, Billy Z. will speak on "How To Survive Cold Turkey Without The White Meat".

The local County Agent and Extension Homemaker will offer classes in grocery shopping this week. A special three-week crash course on "Defense Against The Stock Boys" will deal with methods of spotting grocery store employees who slink quietly up and down the aisles changing prices before a customer has time to fill his or her basket. Tips will also be given on how a shopper can fill one grocery bag for under $100 and still feed a family of five for two days.

At the present time, however, there seems to be no end in sight for the consumer. A boycott has been suggested but this would only be a temporary measure.

On the federal level, President Nixon recently refused to force a reduction in food prices. When asked what relief he could give the people, Nixon took his cue from another famous leader, Marie Antoinette, and shouted,

"LET THEM EAT CHEESE!"

Police Report

Bay St. Louis police reported 39 calls during the period March 15-21.

Police are checking the Spanish Acres Subdivision for reports of a prowler in that area. Bay St. Louis Police Chief William Carbonette warns residents not to try and catch the prowler but to call police as soon as they spot anything.

An undetermined amount of money was taken March 18 from the Bay Skateway. The burglary is under investigation.

Police are investigating the theft of one Uniroyal tire and a wheel taken March 20 from a car on the Henderson Ford lot on Highway 90.

Police recovered a 1968 Plymouth March 20 which had been stolen from a Waveland resident and abandoned on Washington St. A city employee saw a young man park the car on Washington about 1:15 p.m. The car belonged to John Gimma Chrysler-Plymouth of Gulfport.

HGH Staff Pharmacist Outlines Duties, Training

By Adoree Shortle
Echo Staff Writer

"Most people think a person becomes a pharmacist when he finishes out of med school," Marc said, "and a surprising number of others aren't aware of the years of training required to become a registered pharmacist."

Marc McArthur, recently appointed chief pharmacist at Hancock General Hospital, has philosophically accepted the prevalent misconceptions concerning his profession. Although only 26, Marc has completed the more than six years of training necessary to be licensed to practice in the state of Mississippi.

He was graduated from the Howard School of Pharmacy at Sanford University in Birmingham, Ala., after two years of regular college curriculum and three years of specialized pharmacy training with a 27-month residence requirement. After receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy, he spent another 12 months internship under a registered pharmacist before taking the state board examinations required for licensing to practice.

Marc had an edge over the average pharmacy student as he had grown up in the profession working for his father, a licensed pharmacist in Prentiss, Miss.

Following graduation in 1970, he was a pharmacist at Singing River Hospital in Pascagoula before coming to Hancock General last December.

The only staff pharmacist at HGH, Marc is on duty at the hospital all day every day and on call every night. On the infrequent occasions when he is out of town or not available a local registered pharmacist is on call at the hospital.

The system used at HGH for the dispensation of all medications is much the same as that used at any reputable hospital. All medications needed at the hospital are stocked in the pharmacy and absolutely no medication is dispensed to a patient except under physician's orders, including aspirin and the simplest patented medicines which can be purchased "over the counter".

This is one of the strictest rules of the medical profession and concurrently one of the hardest for a hospitalized patient to understand. The pharmacist is responsible for the control and dissemination of all medications to hospital patients, which he performs only through receipt of the doctor's handwritten prescription.

When a physician admits a patient to the hospital, based on his diagnosis of the patient's illness, he prescribes certain medications. A

MARC MCARTHUR, Hancock General Hospital pharmacist, measures out a medicinal draught as he explains the systems in use at the hospital to control not only narcotics but all medications, for the safety and well being of the patients.

carbon copy of the patient's chart is submitted to the pharmacist by a nurse. First thing every morning, Marc brings all prescribed medicines from the pharmacy to the nurses' station for the day. In the medication room, there are rows of boxes for each room, marked with the patient's name into which only Marc puts that patient's medications. Any additional medications called for throughout the day and evening are dispensed by Marc only on receipt of the doctor's prescription.

Even an aspirin can be harmful to a patient on certain medications, Marc explained, and an important part of the training of all persons in the medical profession prevents him from ever giving out a medicine which has not been prescribed by a doctor. This is the reason nurses will tenaciously refuse even the simplest medicine on the patient's request, no matter how irritated he may get, if it has not been prescribed.

For the same reason, Marc will refuse to dispense any medication to a member of the hospital nursing staff without a physician's written orders. These regulations are in force primarily for the benefit and safety of the patient, Marc said.

Close control of all narcotics and dangerous drugs is of paramount importance to the hospital pharmacist. The pharmacy at Hancock General has just been moved to a more impregnable location than before, and is now situated in a room with no outside windows and heavy glass walls affording a clear view of the room at all times.

There is a heavy dead lock on the pharmacy door and the pharmacist has the only key. When Marc isn't there NO ONE can get into the pharmacy. If he loses the only key, it will cost him a lot of money to replace it, he said wryly.

The method of control for narcotics is somewhat the same as that which has been in effect at HGH, with several more exacting innovations that Marc has instigated since his arrival.

A separate sheet is kept on each of the narcotics stocked at the hospital showing the date, time and amount of the drug dispensed, as well as the patient's name, room number, doctor's name and nurse's signature. A corresponding sheet, maintained in the pharmacy on each drug, lists all the same information plus the exact amount in stock at all times.

This system of checks and balances seems complicated but is actually not difficult or time consuming to follow, Marc explained. Although the nurses are responsible for the information on the first sheet, Marc can check the information against each patient's chart which he keeps on file in the pharmacy. Any discrepancies which may show up he immediately calls to the attention of the proper authorities.

Who keeps tabs on the pharmacist? Agents of the federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, who make unscheduled and unannounced inspections of all hospital pharmacies, as well as drugstores and other businesses dealing in medicines containing narcotics.

Highly complimentary of the staff at Hancock General, Marc stated that the professionalism and overall atmosphere of cooperation and friendliness was his main inducement for accepting the position of pharmacist with the hospital.

"The general attitude of cooperation among this staff I feel is the main reason this is such a good hospital," he concluded.

Three 'First-Timers' In Theatre Production

(ED. NOTE: In the March 15 issue of the Echo, five members of the cast of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's forthcoming production, "Invitation To March" were introduced to our readers. Most members of the cast are relative newcomers to the community; only one has appeared in a local production. This week, the Echo introduces the remaining members of the cast.)

When the curtain opens March 29 on "Invitation To March", three members of the cast will be making their first appearance on stage. However, Melaine Lenfant, Carolyn Luyssen and Tommy Koger have all worked off-stage in other theatre productions.

Melaine is a junior at Hancock North Central High School and lives in Lakeshore. She enjoys horseback riding and swimming and hopes to attend Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge when she graduates.

Carolyn is from Madison, Wisconsin and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. She has worked offstage in the Madison Theatre Guild and enjoys show production. She came to the Gulf Coast about a year ago and is manager of the Fairway Villa Resort at Diamondhead.

Tommy was born in Marshall, Texas and lived there the first six of his thirteen years. Since then he has lived in Bay St. Louis where he is an eighth-grade student at St. Stanislaus. He plays the trumpet in the SSC band and his hobby is astronomy. Tommy has helped in several plays in which his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Koger, were involved but this time a new Koger will make his appearance.

The play will be presented March 29, 30 and 31 at the Little Theatre building on Boardman Ave. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Roads, Roads, Roads!

It came as no surprise Monday when a majority of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted to allocate seventy percent of the revenue sharing money for county roads.

It seems as though the state of Mississippi and Hancock County in particular are obsessed with roads—new roads, old roads, re-surfaced roads and roads that go nowhere except perhaps to someone's private property.

Many of the roads in Hancock County are in need of much attention. The question is do they need THAT much attention.

All county services need upgrading and each branch is asking for more money—the sheriff's department, Hancock General Hospital, the Hancock County Youth Detention Center. Add to this the fact that the courthouse should be expanded and the City-County Library needs a new building and one comes to a logical conclusion, Hancock County cannot afford to spend seventy percent of its revenue sharing money on roads!

Forty, fifty or even sixty percent would be more acceptable. Beat 'I've Supervisor James Travira, who is perhaps the only board member really qualified in the area of road construction, voted against the proposal. Board President Alton Kellar was also against the allocation.

Both said that they could not justify spending that much on roads when so much must be done in other areas.

This newspaper agrees wholeheartedly with that viewpoint and asks Supervisors Jerry Ladner, Oscar Peterson and H.G. Zengarling to reconsider their decision and perhaps realize that their priorities need reshuffling.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

As publisher of a major newspaper in our area you have a duty and a responsibility. Your duty is to keep the public informed; your responsibility is to do so in a tasteful manner which respects human rights and dignity.

Your publication of Mr. Frisbie's hate letter which took up almost half of your editorial page was obviously in the worst taste. I am surprised that he was small enough to write it, and that you were dumb enough to print it.

Yours truly,
Jeff Ladner

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to comment on the enthusiastic "turn out" of the voters last Tuesday the 13th.

I think it's indicative of a "new born" interest in government. I only hope it continues, as I am firmly convinced that "people determine the course" of government.

Respectfully,
Andre Arceneaux

Dear Sir:

Regarding Commissioner Bill Frisbie's letter of last week, I say "Amen". He hit the nail on the head.

Sincerely,
Charles E. Carter, Jr.

Dear Editor:

You don't have much news when you give Bill Frisbie a half a page for nothing. Also I don't speak French.

Sincerely,
Ernest Necaise

Dear Editor:

The Council-Manager Committee would like to take this opportunity and means to express to the citizens of Bay St. Louis appreciation regarding the recent election on the Council-Manager plan of government proposition.

The Committee would like to express its special appreciation to the City Administration for their cooperation in presenting this important issue to the electorate for their consideration. It is evident by the voting that the majority of the people desire to maintain and continue their present form of government and it would behoove every citizen to contribute their efforts toward making our Community a better place in which to live.

We fully realize that when an issue like this is presented for consideration that tempers will fly at times but it is commendable that overall this issue was presented both pro and con in an effective and dignified manner.

To all those who contributed their time and efforts to presenting this issue both pro and con and in a manner that the voters could determine for themselves what they desired, we extend our sincere appreciation and heartfelt thanks.

Now that the decision has been made to continue our present form of government, we implore every citizen of this community to do their share toward making Bay St. Louis a prosperous and progressive community that is so richly deserves.

Council-Manager
Committee
BY: E.J. Marengo,
Chairman

Dear Sir:

A news item appearing in the Sea Coast Echo indicated that the Bay St. Louis Police Department was using radar for traffic control. After the first two days of use 48 citations were issued for speeding. Congratulations are in order to a progressive Police Department.

If Waveland police had enough initiative to follow the example set by the Bay St. Louis police they could issue 48 citations in one day to speed demons using Sears Avenue and Piney Ridge Road only. The fines collected from the traffic violators could be used by Waveland to reduce taxes on retirees' homes instead of increasing them year after year.

E.N. CANADY

Dear Editor:

It was not until last week, Thursday to be exact, that I realized what a truly remarkable job of city administration Warren Carver and Andre Arceneaux have done when you consider what they have to work with.

E Pluribus Unum, etc.
Paul Vegas

Dear Editor:

Re: Mr. Frisbie's letter.

I sincerely hope the other members of the city council remain sane!

Sincerely,
J.S. Williams

Dear Sir,

We are very happy to have as our friend and neighbor a man as civic minded as Paul Vegas. A man who has worked hard and long for the betterment of our community, unselfish with his time and with no thought of monetary gains. We should be so lucky to have other people of Paul Vegas' caliber to make Bay St. Louis their home.

John E. and Pat Schott

We've Observed

The overhead bridge lights on the Hancock County side of the Bay Bridge are sadly lacking. Somebody "up there" doesn't like us as this is a continuing problem.

Who's Responsible?

The almost daily detergent scum along the seawall and beaches in Cedar Point. Looks like our previously unpolluted Bay may be in some danger.

Noah and his Ark may be needed if this rain doesn't stop.

Work is once again going on on the beach road. Hope this time it means completions is near at hand!!!

The playground behind North Bay Elementary is in dire need of drainage and fill. After all this rain kids are playing in knee deep mud.

How much more can be accomplished with a can-do attitude than a can't do one. Attention, all citizens and elected officials.

That congratulations are in order to the Jaycees and the One Hundred

Many years ago a prominent doctor told us to buy the cheapest aspirin in the drugstore. "Aspirin," he said, "is aspirin, no matter whose name is on the label."

Sixty years later, our government officials, who are nothing if not thorough, have come to the same conclusion. Aspirin, they say, is aspirin, and no matter what the claims of the makers it all works the same.

The American public should take a good look at itself. It bellows about the high cost of living, and then literally throws its money out the window. Keep a record, for just one week, of the things you buy that your could get along very nicely without, and add up their cost—not major items or necessities but little things like candy bars or a new kind of hair rinse or a useless magazine, a dime here and a quarter there, and without realizing it you have thrown away two or three percent of your yearly income—on nothing.

The advertisers trick you with weasel words that don't mean a thing. This product, they say, gets your dishes "virtually" clean or "practically" eliminates rubbing, or makes your teeth "almost sparkle". So you pay ten times the price of a piece of soap which would do all of those things. Your forebears kept a little calomel and honey and bear's grease in the closet and they got along very nicely in the control of body colds, and sore muscles, and spent only a few cents doing it. In the old days we got our crackers out of the big barrel in the grocery store and our prunes and dried apricots from boxes on the counter, and we didn't need the myriad of fancy cereals because we ate oatmeal or grits from a box on the pantry shelf.

Granted that convenience and standardization are comforting assets daily living—but so is cash-in-hand at the end of the week! Don't do without what you need, is a good slogan, but don't confuse need with want!

Last week Mr. Nixon, in effect, put it up to the housewives to keep prices in line, and we don't think he would approve of the young lady in the TV ad—who says, "I saw this new hair rinse advertised, so of course I bought some." Of course she did—she buys anything she sees advertised, and that's the reason her young hubby is gradually losing his shirt to the loan company.

The best reason why TV commercials should be severely restricted is that they create desire for unnecessary spending. The things they induce people to buy are "like snow upon the desert's dusty face, lighting a little hour or two—and are gone". But the bills for them remain and the budget is stretched to the cracking point, and the cost of living—or rather the cost of useless spending—goes up and up.

It has come to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce that the Mississippi State Highway Department has announced its intention of locating the I-10 Hospitality Booth at the Highway 603 Exit in Hancock County.

It is of the utmost economic importance to our County that this Booth be located West of Highway 607, which many people were under the impression was a settled fact.

The Highway Dept. has scheduled a public hearing on the booth for April 26 at 7 p.m. at the Courthouse. Please make plans to attend.

SOYBEAN WEED CONTROL

The major weed control activity in soybeans for the next month or so will likely be the incorporation of Treflan or Planavin for control of grasses and some small seed broadleaf weeds.

Cobex is also labeled for use on soybeans and is similar to Treflan and Planavin. Soybeans are more sensitive to injury from Cobex and growers are urged to take a cautious look at it this year.

Only Treflan has label clearance for the double (2X) rate for control of rhizome johnsongrass. This treatment was highly successful last year where growers determined the correct rate for the soil type and where adequate soil preparation and incorporation were accomplished.

If you have a serious johnsongrass problem it might pay you to use this 2X method for at least two years. This treatment is one of the best we now have for controlling johnsongrass in soybeans.

DIARY NOTES

Every time you do not do a complete job of milking you lose two ways. You lose money and the residual milk remaining helps to dry off the cow just a little bit.

When a cow is mistreated and not properly and completely stimulated she cannot give full cooperation and does not have a complete milk let-down. The most important part of milking is the thorough and complete stimulation of the cow before putting on the milking machine. You do not wash the udder just for sanitation. The massage that goes with the washing stimulates a full and complete milk let-down.

HOME GARDENING

March and April are big planting months for the home vegetable gardener. Don't get in too big a hurry about planting the warm season crops like snapbeans, lima beans, sweet corn, okra, tomatoes, squash and melons. Wait until the soil warms up. The lowest soil temperature for good germination of these vegetables is 60 degrees. Warmer would be better.

Transplants of tomatoes, peppers and eggplant will get a better start if you let the soil warm up before you set them. If you are using plants in peat pots, be sure to cover the peat pots completely with soil. Otherwise, the peat pot will work like a wick and remove all the moisture from around the roots of the young plants.

Legislative Report

by EARL "BUCK" LADNER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
HANCOCK COUNTY

A bill to establish a State Planning Commission, which would establish preliminary studies of state construction, awaits the signature of the governor. However, in a recent press conference Governor Waller indicated that he would probably veto the measure.

This past week the Senate concurred with a House passed bill thus giving final approval to a measure placing Supernumerary judges in the State Supreme Court. The bill limits the number to serve to three, require judges to be at least 65 years of age but not over 72. They will be paid two-thirds of the salary now being paid associate justices.

The Senate Marine Conservation Committee put a bill on the Senate calendar this past week which would increase taxes on seafood harvesters and dealers. I had hoped this bill would die in committee. I'm of the opinion that the Seafood Commission has received an adequate appropriation from the state to operate on for the next fiscal year. Putting an additional tax on the industry would only result in the increase being passed on to the public.

The House of Representatives refused to accept Senate changes to its Teacher Pay Bill and asked that the bill be sent to conference to discuss points of difference between versions approved by the two chambers.

On Tuesday, March 13, the House of Representatives gave final passage to legislation which would authorize the Governor of Mississippi to work with Alabama's Governor to seek a Superport for the Gulf Coast.

House Bill 2461 passed the House Chambers with very little opposition. Upon and after final approval by the Senate this bill would provide an additional appropriation to the Marine Conservation Commission for the purpose of moving polluted oysters from Back Bay Biloxi and relocating them.

Reflections

THOSE WHO were lucky enough to attend a St. Joseph's Altar Monday will recognize this photograph. Although this picture was taken March 19, 1917, tradition has kept the St. Joseph's Altar just about the same. This particular one was held in the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lolacano at 201 Necaise Ave. in Bay St. Louis. Those in the photo who portrayed Jesus, Mary and Joseph were the late Peter

There will be $10,380 in the first year available to centrally air condition and heat the courtroom in the county Courthouse, and the sheriff's department will receive the same amount for personnel additions the first year. A total of $51,900 will go to both at the end of five years.

Some of those asking for consideration in disbursements as the morning meeting included the Firefighters Assn., Bay-Waveland Altrusa Club members on behalf of the Youth Detention Center, Sheriff Sylvan Ladner and representatives of the City-County Library Assn., seeking funds for a proposed new library building.

In a recessed session Monday afternoon, the board accepted a suggestion from State Auditor Hamp King that a local and private bill be requested of the state legislature to authorize hiring extra personnel in the Chancery Clerk's office to handle revenue sharing fund bookkeeping. However, Rutherford stated that additional personnel was unnecessary and that he planned to utilize the present bookkeeper, Mrs. Elsie Kenney, on a full time basis, rather than her present part-time employment, under the local and private bill.

The largest part of the afternoon session was spent in further discussion of the method by which the 70 percent would be disbursed on county road construction.

Although there have been several meetings on the matter, supervisors still could not agree on a mutual system of road construction expenditures, although federal guidelines require all expenditures be handled on a county basis rather than by individual beats. A solution to the problem was complicated by the fact that each supervisor wants to perform the work on his beat roads in a different manner.

Supervisor Ladner wants to do as much of the work himself in beat one using county equipment and labor, but billing revenue sharing funds for labor and materials.

Kellar, who expressed strong disapproval of the 70 percent allocation, held out for contracting out all the work under one project designation, as did Beat Five Supervisor Travolta.

Oscar Peterson maintained that he would do all preparation work on beat three roads, utilizing county equipment and labor but was willing to contract for the final overlay. He would assume labor costs but would bill revenue sharing funds for materials. Beat Four Supervisor Bully Zengarliger reiterated earlier statements that he would contract for all the work in his beat.

The entire problem came to a standstill when county engineer Larry Seal informed the board that he would supervise all work accomplished under contract, but would not "be responsible for individual supervisors' material expenditures...that I will not do."

A decision on the matter was again deferred until the board could confer with board attorney Ruble Griffin.

BAD DRUGS...

"In one month we've had 116 kids come into the Center on hard drugs (heroin, cocaine, acid). Last week, in ONE week, we had to send four young adults to mental institutions and had one narcotics death."

The Coast, Russell continued, is flooded with dope and the worst part of it is the one that frightens him and Center workers most, is that a violently dangerous drug, PCP, is being sold on the street as other drugs.

Dopers, especially the young ones who haven't any sense, he said, think they're buying THC (a marijuana derivative) or other drugs but are getting PCP, which is so bad that "real junkies won't touch it."

Speaking emphatically to the youth in the audience, Russell said, "Those of you who are turning on to harder stuff had better be careful because you don't know what you're getting, and what you're getting can kill you!"

To a row of older teenagers, Russell said, "If you think you know what your taking, you're stupid - because you don't." To prove his point, he offered to pay $10 to anyone who can bring him pure THC and if, after testing it, it turns out to be something else as he predicts, he'll ask that person for a donation to the Center, which operates on a minimal Law Enforcement Assistance Division grant and mostly volunteer staffing.

Pushers and dealers are using an appalling variety of ingredients to cut the real dope with, he explained, most of which can be and often are, fatal when taken in quantity. At the testing laboratory, they have found in acid, heroin and cocaine such things as Drano, strychnine and even found horse manure in marijuana.

The most significant aspect of the whole drug problem, Russell said, is not that of being able to identify specific drugs, their pharmaceutical names and their effects under abuse, or even if and where children are hiding them.

"Let's don't look for dope," he said quietly. "Let's look at our kids." He outlined four steps parents could follow to effectively combat drug abuse in their own homes - a vaccine against the epidemic he called it.

"Know your child and care about him was the first step; give him a more conventional religious and political environment, the second; give him an outlook for the future or help him develop a meaningful aim for the future, and lastly, communicate with him."

"Take some time and listen to your child," he urged. "Don't you do the talking, let him talk and you listen. You'll learn a lot."

Their peers have more influence on their children than the parents do, Russell said in conclusion and that's the main reason drug abuse is so prevalent. He praised the work local law enforcement officials are doing but pointed out that they can't do it all alone.

Turning to the Drug Abuse Center on Broad Ave. in Gulfport, Dr. Russell said, "We're available 24 hours a day and we don't charge anyone, for anything. It's yours as a gift, please take advantage of it."

Russell gave up his private medical practice in January to devote his energies full time to the Center, which is the in-take and information site and to the Catapcombs, the rehabilitation center. Any parent or member of the community can call on him or any of the Center staff at any time for private consultations, drug information, parent-child counseling or help for addicts.

(The Echo will have more detailed articles next week on Dr. Russell and the Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center.)

BRIDGE WINNERS

Bay St. Louis Junior Police will hold a cake sale this Saturday at the Bay St. Louis Shopping Center.

ALTAR SOCIETY

St. Ann's Altar Society will hold a luncheon social from noon to 3 p.m., March 23 at St. Ann's Parish Hall. Donation will be $1.25 per person. The public is invited. Further information is available by calling chairman Mrs. Frank Corcoran or Mrs. Vivian Moffett.

"SEVEN OUT OF TEN"... that's the percentage of Gulf Coast youth now turning on to drugs, Dr. John Russell is graphically illustrating to the more than 350 persons who attended the Friday drug abuse clinic, in Bay St. Louis. Seated at the speaker's table to the right of Dr. Russell are Pam McConnell, Drug Abuse Center worker, and Bay Police Chief William Carbonette, moderator of the program, which was jointly sponsored by American Legion Post 139, Bay Police Dept. and the sheriff's department.

Diamondhead Sales Force Reorganized

An increase in sales personnel and a reorganization of the department has gone into effect at Diamondhead, according to sales manager Joseph Buccola.

The sales staff has increased from 42 to 50 line salesmen, Buccola stated, and five salesmen have been promoted to staff managers, each in charge of 10 line salesmen, all of whom work under Buccola and his assistant, Dan Smith.

Promoted to staff manager are John Brewer, former Saints player who has been with Diamondhead for 18 months; Ralph Antry, with a one-year tenure; Carl Kern, who has been on the sales staff since 1970; Larry Tucker, a salesman two years; and J.C. Koenen, formerly top salesman for Turan-Lane Chevrolet who joined the Diamondhead staff a year ago.

The change was necessitated by an increase in sales volume for the multi-million dollar development, Buccola stated. Land sales figures for 1972 were in excess of $10 million and the projection for this year is $15 million.

The present system will enable sales executives to work more closely with each sales representative, Buccola explained, as well as affording the opportunity to reward and promote those men "who have been doing such an outstanding job in land sale promotion."

"I am very happy with the entire sales staff," Buccola said. "Their enthusiasm and ability are the main reasons this department has produced so well."

Buccola has been with the Diamondhead corporation since 1970 and was named sales manager in February 1972.

Al Rushing, Task Force Chairman presided at the meeting. Reverend Harold Ryker gave the invocation. Members were welcomed by Mrs. Kitty Dunnaway, administrative assistant, Area-wide Model Project on behalf of Mrs. Gwen Gollotte, project co-ordinator, who was unable to be present. John Grant, Director of United Fund, Jackson County and chairman of the nominating Committee presented the slate of officers to be voted on for the coming year. Those officers elected are:

Al Rushing—chairman; Msgr. James J. Hannon—first vice chairman; Ms. Kitty Dunnaway—administrative assistant; secretary, area-wide model project; Fred Fisher—parliamentarian; Miss Nola Kree-Harrison County first vice-president; John Sanders—second vice-president; Mrs. Arnette Giles-Hancock County first vice-president; Mrs. C.R. Beyer—second vice-president; Mrs. Dee Merritt-Jackson County first vice-president; and Rev. J. Thomas Goode—second vice-president.

The objectives and long range goals were discussed and explained by Rushing. The original project goals will continue during the next year with expansion in all areas and particularly in the low density areas.

Les Newcomb, executive director, Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District, explained the relationship of the Area-wide Model Project which is contracted through the District by the Mississippi Council on Aging, grantee. He urged the Task Force members to continue active roles in the interest of the Project in their respective communities. He also stated the Task Force would help set the pace as a Model Project for other areas of the state and the nation.

The annual Appreciation Banquet for recognition of those who serve this Project will be held in May 1973.

At the next Task Force meeting, Committee Chairmen will be announced.

Reports were given on the progress of the Project by each County Co-ordinator.

Learning Problems Discussed At Meeting

Dr. W.C. Maples, Optometrist, and his associate Dr. Bill Barker, guest speakers at Our Lady of the Gulf PTO meeting last Tuesday night were introduced by PTO president David Treutel. They discussed learning problems and learning disabilities of children relating to vision.

Dr. Maples suggested that parents read the book on "How to Develop Your Child's Intelligence" by Gene Gettman; "Stop School Failure" and "Kids' Brains and Learning" by Dr. Roy Wonderlik.

During the business session conducted by Mr. Treutel, Very Rev. Gregory Johnson, pastor, commended the president on the interesting meetings held during the year. Father also thanked the candidates and all who helped in any way to make the carnival a success.

Sister Patricia Brandner, principal, introduced Mrs.

M.J. Gleber who demonstrated the Lippincott reading program for Kindergarten children and Mrs. Santo Rosato, who gave a demonstration on the advantages of the controlled reader.

Mr. Treutel appointed Jim McCarthy as committee chairman to nominate officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Edgar Spratley was recognized by Mr. Treutel for her work with the Honey Bears drill team. It was announced they won second place trophy in the Nereids parade.

The 50-50 award went to Mrs. J.T. McCaleb; the door prize to Mrs. E.V. Alme and the attendance prize to the Kindergarten Class.

Mrs. A. M. Thomas, sixth grade room mother, hostess for the evening, was assisted by Mrs. Donald Carr and Mrs. David L. Johnson. The refreshment table and refreshments carried out the St. Patrick Day theme.

Junior High Classes Visit Military Park

Two 8th grade social studies classes from Bay Saint High toured the National Military Park at Vicksburg, Miss., recently as a part of their studies of the Civil War.

The tour was arranged by Mrs. Cathy Garter, Social Studies teacher at the Junior High.

The National Military Park is the site of the Battle of Vicksburg, often called the turning point in the War Between the States.

The tour included a brief, comprehensive movie, which outlined the sequence of events which led to the battle and the ultimate defeat of Confederate forces in the river stronghold.

A National Park Service Guide conducted a two-hour tour of the actual battlefield, stopping often to explain the many details of the struggle, and to answer questions raised by the students.

Mrs. Carter pointed out that her classes had just completed their study of the Civil War and she felt a field trip to an actual battle site would be appropriate.

"We are fortunate to have an historic place like Vicksburg nearby," she said. "The students had the opportunity to really get the feel of history by being on the actual location, and learning all the interesting facts from experts. This field trip was so successful. I'm planning another for next year."

The students pooled their money to pay for the expenses involved in the trip.

Accompanying Mrs. Carter were Eddie Farve, student teacher; Ronald Thomas, bus driver; Caytee Carter; and Charles Carter, Jr.

If you're farsighted you'll switch to electric heat

You know ole Hawk-eye who lives down the street? He's a real farsighted fellow. When he thought about switching his nest to electric heat, he called us for a free cost estimate. He discovered how little the cost difference is between electric heat and other forms of heating. And electric heat is worth so much more in convenience and comfort. If you want clean, comfortable electric heat, call us for an estimate. It's a real eye-opener.

Blues Squeak Past Gold Team, 14-12

The Blues defeated the Golds 14-12 last Wednesday night at Bay High Tiger Stadium in their annual football game ending 20 days of spring football training.

Edward Jones of the blue returned the opening kickoff to his own 45-yard line and just eight plays later, the Blues were on the scoreboard when Mike Magee threw a 20-yard pass to Vernon Powell for the touchdown with 8:33 left in the first quarter. Sam Piazza kicked the extra point to make the score 7-0.

With a little over five minutes to go in the first quarter the Blues recovered a Gold fumble on the Blue 40-yard line. Four plays later the Blues scored on a six-yard sweep by Anthony Summers. Sam Piazza again kicked the extra point making the score 14-0 in favor of the Blues with 4:22 to go in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter the Golds blocked a Blue punt on the Blue seven-yard line. It took the Golds three plays to score with 8:39 remaining in the second quarter when Gilbert Whetters punted over from the one-yard line. The extra point attempt was no good and the score was now 14-6 in favor of the Blues.

Later in the second quarter the Golds recovered a Blue fumble at midfield. Five plays later the Golds put their second score on the board when Dale Lolicano passed to Leslie Hinson for 12 yards and the TD. The extra point attempt was no good.

Following the contest Coach J.E. Lolicano said that he was pleased with the progress shown by his squad during the 20 days of spring training.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Highlight of the week end was the St. Patrick's Day Parade held in Waveland Saturday March, 17th. Quite a few sportsmen were seen along the parade route who didn't go fishing even though it was a perfect day for that sport. Clear and a little cool for this time of the year. The whole week end was without rain.

Some bass and perch were caught by those who went after them. No salt water fish are being caught to speak of as yet.

Hard crabs are making their appearance. Some were caught down by Bayou Caddy the past few days. Now is the time for crayfish (mud bugs). They are being gotten from Louisiana where they are plentiful right now. Some of our local Sports go to that state to catch them. Boiled crayfish make for mighty good eating, any old time. Crayfish festivals are held at towns in the Pelican State and are an annual affair looked for by thousands of Mississippians. Crayfish bisque is out of this world. It has been made by Cajuns for years. If one hasn't eaten Crayfish bisque he hasn't eaten crayfish.

A nice catch of bass and perch was made last week by Robert Peterson and Bob Henley two of our younger fly fishermen. They elaborated on the size of the perch.

Claud Garcia, Robert Peterson, Jessy Boos, and Lester Haverly, are members of the Progressive Sportsman Club of Waveland. These men both hunt and fish. According to them the deer season this year was above the average. They got their share of deer and are looking forward to the coming turkey season. All are good sportsmen.

Understand Lucien Favre has been in the hospital for a short stay. Hurry up fellow and get well. Fish are biting pretty good.

Lloyd Garcia was having a ball at the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Mingling with friends, Lloyd is kept pretty busy taking care of the Iwamba bayous, etc.

Pat Quinlan is from New Orleans. He fishes, hunts and does crabbing. Has a lot of friends in our section, who he goes with.

Mike Housey, his wife Jeannie and son Michael, Jr., paid a recent visit to his father, Joe Housey in Waveland. Went crabbing and caught about 2 dozen crabs in Bayou Caddy. Not bad for this time of the year.

William (Bama) Callahan is a charter member of the Bass Association of America. He resides at Waveland and is quite a fisherman. Bill does most any kind of fishing.

Terrell Bourgeois when not working in his Waveland Dixie

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK Wallace Collie is another of our old time fishermen. He owns part of some lakes down at Clermont Harbor. He wants to protect our fish so that fishermen can enjoy themselves. A pretty good sport, we'll say.

Bakery takes to fishing. Fishes mostly for speckles, croakers and flounders up Jourdan River.

Sami Benigno had a surprise visit from his army buddy, Michael "Zeke" Perricone of the 6th Infantry after 28 years. Zeke was at the Broadwater Beach Hotel playing golf. He is a bartender at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton, Illinois. Spent a little time reminiscing. Long time, no see.

Bill Stewart also attended the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Same old Bill.

Al Garcia was seen hauling in some nice bass at a local lake recently. Had about a dozen. They were caught on a tad pole bait.

John Genin was down from Ole Miss. for this week. Drove his convertible in the parade Saturday. Expects to do some fishing before he returns to school.

Pass Christian Isles Golf Course was a crowded place on account of the good weather of the weekend. Local golfers and visitors were out in force. The course is in excellent shape. Russell Elliott has been reelected as president of the club.

In Louisiana "the start of the Lenten period and the arrival of spring always signal a sharp upsurge in sport fishing. They are originally from New Orleans.

It has been reported that perch are being caught in Rotten Bayou among the lily pads. The Bayou runs off Jourdan River at the island near Nicola's Camp. There is good fly fishing in this area too.

Fe Seuzeneau accompanied John Genin and Yours Truly on a fishing trip Sunday. We will probably have another fly fisherman in our midst soon.

White and Bayou Coward are clear. Both perch and bass are being caught. These bayous run into Mullato Bayou where there is plenty good fishing when conditions are right.

Bouie Blanchard and Sheldon Seuzeneau are golfing partners. They both play a good game and make it tough on their opponents. Don't know of anything better than a close golf match.

IT PAYS TO USE CLASSIFIED ADS.

Annual non-resident licenses cost $6, and the commission also issues non-resident "trip" licenses, valid for seven consecutive days, for $3.

A number of our local sportsmen fish in Louisiana waters.

Miss. licenses can be purchased from the sheriff's office or at Kingston's Barber Shop. They are necessary when fishing with artificial baits.

Another proof that hard crabs are beginning to give is the fact that Al Hickman and his brother-in-law, Brother Delcazal caught about 3 dozen over the weekend at Pass Christian Isles. Al said they were all good size and full of meat. Both men also do some Unofficial conjecture from City Hall is that a deep canal will have to be dug to remove the massive barge from its entrenched position.

Echo Staffers Earn 14 Awards In Press Women Competition

Echo News Editor Marileen C. Maher and Staff Writers Adoree J. Shortle and Susan E. Irby captured 14 awards, including nine first place rankings, at the Mississippi Press Women's Annual Writing Competition Awards Banquet Friday, March 23, in Jackson.

Competing with weeklies and semi-weeklies over 5,001 circulation, the staff members won all three awards presented in the category of news story. Miss Irby, news director of the Long Beach-Pass Christian Bureau, won first place in the news category for the escape of a Pass Christian man charged with extortion from Harrison County Jail.

Miss Maher earned a second place award for her account of President Nixon's presentation of the National Volunteer Award to Mrs. Arnette Giles of Pearlman.

Third place honors in the news category went to Mrs. Shortle, Bay St. Louis reporter, for her coverage of a man's apparent suicide jump from the Bay St. Louis bridge.

Miss Maher and Mrs. Shortle each earned a first place award in the category of personal columns for "Red Beans and Rice" which appears weekly in the Echo.

Miss Maher received two first place awards in the areas of Page Makeup for her front-page display of the Ingram explosion and for Publications Edited by a Woman.

Mrs. Shortle was awarded a first place certificate for her multi-picture layout of field day frolics at Christ Episcopal Day School. In this category, weeklies and dailies of all circulations competed for the same awards. She also gained first place honors for her editorial entitled, "Shame and Sorrow," a comment on the auto death of a young child.

A mock press conference with four Coast youngsters about to enter the first grade won first place honors for Miss Irby in the feature category. She also received a first place merit in the area of display advertisement for an ad she designed for Budd's Ltd. Ladies Fashions in Long Beach.

The other awards earned by staff members included a third place ranking in the category of Special Articles by Mrs. Shortle for her four-part series entitled, "Dialogues on Dope." Mrs. Shortle also received a third place certificate in the News Picture category for her photograph of the sewer system cave-in at Waveland which buried one man. In this category, all weeklies and dailies competed alike.

Miss Irby received second place honors in the Editorial category for her article entitled, "A Hairly Issue," concerning Long Beach students' attempts to change the school's dress code.

Awards were also made to Jessie McKay of the Pass Christian Tarpon-Beacon; Maria Watson, Pam O'Boyle, Marie Langlois, Regina Hines, Jo Ann Klein, Betty Jo Miller, and Emily Germanis of The Biloxi-Gulfport Daily Herald; and Nancy Longnecker of the Southern GE Cable-Vision Corporation in Biloxi.

Entries made in all categories were taken from publications and broadcasts from January-December, 1972.

All first place winners will automatically compete in the National Press Women's Association Writing Competition. Results of this contest will be announced at their meeting in June in Dearborn, Michigan.

Students Will 'Take To The Streets'

The Third Annual School Clean-Up Day for Bay St. Louis has been scheduled for Friday, March 30. This event, which is unique to Bay St. Louis, enlists the aid of all students in the city in a mass one-afternoon clean-up of city streets and school playgrounds. Students in all schools, public and private, will once again participate. Elementary school students will pick up litter on their school grounds, while junior and senior high students will clean roadsides in areas surrounding their schools.

Students will be dismissed from class at 1:30 p.m. and begin cleaning litter and debris from their designated areas at that time. They will be accompanied and supervised by their teachers. Police will patrol the streets to provide the necessary protection.

Storm Lashes Coast

A severe tropical storm with tornadoic winds and torrential rains hammered the Gulf Coast area Saturday, reminiscent to many Coast residents of Hurricane Camille experience.

Starting in the early morning hours, the storm grew in intensity through the day reaching a destructive peak about mid-afternoon, and raging intermittently until late evening.

Gale winds reaching an estimated 65 miles per hour tore limbs off trees, broke power lines and damaged homes and business structures along the entire Coastline.

High tides, recorded in Biloxi at more than five feet above normal, flooded the beach highway and inundated neighborhoods well off the beach necessitating evacuation of many families.

In Hancock County, hazardous traffic conditions were complicated by a power failure on the Bay Bridge causing the drawbridge to remain open from about 2:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. East and West bound traffic had to be rerouted through DeLisle, Kiln, Caesar county roads.

In the wake of the storm, all coast beaches were left littered with debris and a large portion of the newly dredged Harrison County beaches was redeposited on the highway and for hundreds of yards inland on private properties.

In Waveland, residents were startled to find not only debris strewn on the beach, but three barge-loads of pulpwood logs, washed off barges that had foundered several days earlier in the Waveland area. The storm hit as a tug was in the process of extricating the beached barges. In addition, just west of Coleman Ave. a barge carrying a very large portion of an oil rig rested comfortably half on the sand and half in the water. Nearby a tug and crane crew off-loaded two additional barges which were sinking under full loads of salvage concrete. When the abnormally high tides receded Sunday, the entire group of salvage barges and tugs became helplessly grounded along with those they were attempting to rescue.

Barbara Rappold, Waveland city clerk, said unofficial reports were that a deep channel would have to be dredged in the Waveland beach to remove the oil rig barge.

About 1,000 residents were evacuated from their homes in Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore and Shoreline Park due to rising water in those areas.

According to Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., the residents were brought to school buildings and to the National Guard Armory in Bay St. Louis.

Civil Defense directors for Hancock County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland have all expressed appreciation to area residents as well as various agencies for what County C.D. Director Lucien Kidd described as "excellent cooperation from everyone concerned, with total coordination of efforts in rescue and evacuation procedures".

In Waveland, C.D. Director Bert Stieffel and Assistant Directors Donald McIntyre and Kenneth Fayard praised the newly-formed Civil Defense branch in Clermont Harbor, under the supervision of Buddy Haverly. Still in the formation and organizational stage when the storm struck Saturday, the Clermont Harbor group proved its value in "action before formation", McIntyre stated.

In lauding the overall coordination, Stieffel said "it was a terrific combined effort of all county and city agencies as well as individuals". He cited in particular the National Guard, county board of supervisors, County and Bay St. Louis C.D., HERO organization, sheriff's department, Highway Patrol, State Game and Fish Commission agents, Red Cross personnel, Bay and Waveland police and fire departments and numerous volunteer individuals, all of whom, Stieffel said, contributed to the success of the action.

Funds Available For Hospitality Booth

State legislators accepted a bill and accompanying amendment at the eleventh hour Friday night authorizing some $250,000 in separate funds to the highway department for the construction of a tourist hospitality booth in Hancock County, with the stipulation that the booth be situated west of State Highway 607.

The amendment to the bill, which provides legislative sanction for the construction of seven hospitality booths in neighboring counties, was authored by State Senator Martin Smith, whose appeals to Senatorial colleagues was responsible for the passage of the significant amendment.

The legislation came as a result of almost a year of effort on the part of Smith and State Representative Earl E. (Buck) Ladner, Jr. to effect the relocation of the Hancock County hospitality booth to a site west of Highway 607, rather than within the proposed recreation park facility planned by the highway department 10 miles east of the state line near Highway 603.

Fearing the demise of Gulf Coast tourist trade and resultant economic disaster on completion of Interstate 10, which bypasses the entire Coast, a group of Hancock County merchants organized last year to seek a solution to the problem. The group enlisted the aid of Smith and Ladner for legislative intervention to erect a hospitality station on I-10 West of 607 to divert the flow of tourist traffic to Highway 90 West of Waveland.

The hospitality booth has been earmarked by the highway department to be included in a large tourist recreation park and rest stop adjacent to the intersection of Highways I-10 and 603.

Legislation initiated by Smith last year requires that the highway department must advertise the availability of a public hearing before taking action on erection of certain tourist facilities.

Strong arguments by the two legislators in support of the amendment were the Mississippi Test Facility on Highway 607 and Buccanoeer Park on the Waveland beach, now under development by the state as a massive public recreation facility, as well as the many other tourist attractions in Coast cities and on Highway 90.

A public hearing on the hospitality station location has been scheduled for April 26 at 7 p.m. at the courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

Board Pushing For Booth Location

A recommendation that the Mississippi State Highway Department approve a hospitality booth location west of the intersection of Interstate 10 and Highway 607 was approved unanimously Tuesday night by the board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Mississippi legislators have allocated $250,000 for construction of a booth west of 607 and the Highway Department has scheduled a hearing on the matter April 26 at 7 p.m. at the Hancock County courthouse.

Although plans have been finalized for construction of a hospitality station between Highways 607 and 603, the Chamber board pushed for an additional booth west of Highway 607.

The board also passed resolutions requesting the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Bay St. Louis commission council to reconsider proposed allocations of revenue sharing monies.

The board of supervisors announced last week that they would spend 70 percent of revenue money on county roads. The Chamber board has asked that no more than 50 per cent be provided for road construction and repair and that the board consider allocating the money according to suggested federal guidelines.

The Chamber board will also ask Bay St. Louis city officials to reconsider their decision to place $63,000 of revenue money in the city budget. Although no official announcement has been made by the commission council, Commissioner William Frisbie stated at a meeting last week that a large portion of revenue sharing money would be used to make up deficits in the city budget.

Ecology Festival

March Clean-Up Month in Bay St. Louis will be concluded with an Art Ecology Festival from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at the Youth Center on Uman Ave.

Exhibits will include posters from all elementary school students, ecology projects from junior high students and ingeniously decorated litter barrels from senior high students.

Also on display will be art and useful objects made from junk or garbage. These will be contributed by interested citizens of all ages.

The general public is invited to attend.

LUCIEN KIDD has authorized The Sea Coast Echo to announce that he is a candidate for Bay St. Louis Commissioner of Utilities (Post No. 1) in the May 8 election.

Concert Will Benefit St. Rose

The Music Department of Xavier University in New Orleans will present a diversified program in the auditorium of Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis at 3 p.m. Sunday, benefiting St. Rose of Lima School, a Catholic School in Bay St. Louis, which needs additional funds to continue operation.

All vocal and instrumental ensembles at Xavier, plus outstanding solo artists, both faculty and students, will perform in the Gulf Coast benefit, according to Malcolm J. Breda, Music Department chairman.

Both the Concert Choir, Xavier's elite vocal group, which has received acclaim locally and on tour, and the larger University Chorus, which is familiar to New Orleans area audiences through its performances with the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, will appear in the benefit production. Both groups are under the direction of Dr. Julius R. Tipton.

Another Xavier music faculty member who will be directing two groups is John A. Fernandez - the Xavier University Jazz and Symphonic Bands.

The Xavier Opera Workshop, under the direction of Gordon O. Brown, which has produced artists now performing with major opera companies in this country and in Europe, will be presented in the Bay St. Louis program.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Highlight of the week end was the St. Patrick's Day Parade, held in Waveland Saturday March, 17th. Quite a few sportsmen were seen along the parade route who didn't go fishing even though it was a perfect day for that sport. Clear and a little cool for this time of the year. The whole week end was without rain.

Some bass and perch were caught by those who went after them. No salt water fish are being caught to speak of as yet.

Hard crabs, are making their appearance. Some were caught down by Bayou Caddy the past few days. Now is the time for crayfish (mud bugs). They are being gotten from Louisiana where they are plentiful right now. Some of our local sports go to that state to catch them. Billed crayfish make for mighty good eating, any old time. Crayfish festivals are held at towns in the Pelican State and are an annual affair looked for by thousands of Mississippians. Crayfish bisque is out of this world. It has been made by Cajuns for years. If one hasn't eaten Crayfish bisque he hasn't eaten crayfish.

A nice catch of bass and perch was made last week by Robert Peterson and Bob Henley two of our younger fly fishermen. They elaborated on the size of the perch.

Claud Garcia, Robert Peterson, Jessy Boos, and Lester Haverty, are members of the Progressive Sportsman Club of Waveland. These men both hunt and fish. According to them the deer season this year was above the average. They got their share of deer and are looking forward to the coming turkey season. All are good sportsmen.

Understand Lucien Favre has been in the hospital for a short stay. Hurry up fellow and get well. Fish are biting pretty good.

Lloyd Garcia was having a ball at the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Mingling with friends. Lloyd is kept pretty busy taking care of the Iwamba bayous, etc.

Pat Quindlan is from New Orleans. He fishes, hunts and does crabbing. Has a lot of friends in our section, who he goes with.

Mike Housey, his wife Jeanne and son Michael, Jr., paid a recent visit to his father, Joe Housey in Waveland. Went crabbing and caught about 2 dozen crabs in Bayou Caddy. Not bad for this time of the year.

William (Bama) Callahan is a charter member of the Bass Association of America. He resides at Waveland and is quite a fisherman. Bill does most any kind of fishing.

Terrell Bourgeois when not working in his Waveland Dixie

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK Wallace Collie is another of our old time fishermen. He owns part of some lakes down at Clermont Harbor. He wants to protect our fish so that fishermen can enjoy themselves. A pretty good sport, we'll say.

Bakery takes to fishing. Fishes mostly for speckles, croakers and flounders up Jourdan River.

Sam Benigno had a surprise visit from his army buddy, Michael "Zeke" Perricone of the 6th Infantry after 28 years. Zeke was at the Broadwater Beach Hotel playing golf. He is a bartender at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton, Illinois. Spent a little time reminiscing. Long time, no see.

Bill Stewart also attended the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Same old Bill.

Al Garcia was seen hauling in some nice bass at a local lake recently. Had about a dozen. They were caught on a tad pole bait.

John Genin was down from Ole Miss. for this week. Drove his convertible in the parade Saturday. Expects to do some fishing before he returns to school.

Pass Christian Isles Golf Course was a crowded place on account of the good weather of the weekend. Local golfers and visitors were out in force. The course is in excellent shape. Russell Elliott has been reelected as president of the club.

In Louisiana "the start of the Lenten period and the arrival of spring always signal

a sharp upsurge in sport fishing. They are originally from New Orleans.

It has been reported that perch are being caught in Rotten Bayou among the lily pads. The Bayou runs off Jourdan River at the island near Nicola's Camp. There is good fly fishing in this area too.

Fe Seuzeneau accompanied John Genin and Yours Truly on a fishing trip Sunday. We will probably have another fly fisherman in our midst soon.

White and Bayou Coward are clear. Both perch and bass are being caught. These bayous run into Mollato Bayou where there is plenty good fishing when conditions are right.

Bouie Blanchard and Sheldon Seuzeneau are golfing partners. They both play a good game and make it tough on their opponents. Don't know of anything better than a close golf match.
